This Playshop teaches professionals how to help traumatized children and teens with attachment and self-regulation challenges to develop internal sensation awareness (interoception) in order to rebalance dysregulated nervous systems. Participants will learn the “why” and the “how” of using the psychobiological approach of Somatic Experiencing®. Maggie will show how art activities and simple play, when informed by the basics of neurobiology, polyvagal theory, and looking through the lens of SE®, can facilitate the completion of thwarted survival responses to restore resiliency and increase the capacity for healthy social engagement.

The Power of Somatic Experiencing®: Art and Attachment Play #4426

In this keynote, Maggie Kline will present two very different cases of children affected by traumatic events. She will highlight the contrast between treating children with episodic trauma versus complex PTSD, based on neuroscience and attachment theory. Her slides will feature a description and photos of activities and artwork she used with both children as she demonstrates the integration of art, attachment play and Somatic Experiencing®.

Love, Loss, and Forgiveness #4427

The consequences of unresolved grief and traumatic losses contribute to depression, anxiety, and a host of other mental health difficulties. For you, having effective tools to help clients face and work through these difficulties is essential. In addition, you must address your own loss and grief history in order to keep from projecting it onto clients. It is helpful to develop an arsenal of tools to guide us from a paradigm of fear and/or denial, to shifting toward one of compassion and forgiveness. You will learn concepts and techniques to help with unresolved grief and traumatic losses. This workshop is practical and experiential, working in both large and small group formats. You will learn about the notion of a storytelling triad (storyteller, guide, witness), and the use of these roles in exploring unresolved grief and trauma. As you work in small groups of three, you will learn how each of those roles can give a unique perspective on healing our losses and wounds. Throughout the workshop, you will participate in exercises that address developmental, psychological, creative, and spiritual aspects of love, loss, and forgiveness.

Resolving Rather than Managing Chronic Pain: The Brain’s Response to Trauma* #4428

Health professionals often work with patients who present with chronic health symptoms that appear to have no direct explanation, including pain, anxiety, depression, fatigue, and insomnia. In this workshop, you will learn about the individual differences between clients who are experiencing pain and how trauma and unresolved emotional experiences often contribute to these conditions. You will learn about the current research related to clients with chronic pain who do not have a nociceptive component to their pain, but rather pain that is generated by neural pathways in the brain. You will learn about the neurological basis for this view and strategies for working with such clients. In addition, you will learn about the overall impact of trauma on the brain and how it contributes to chronic pain. This workshop will incorporate small and large group interactive activities and discussions.

The Science of Clinical Supervision: Advancing Competency in Clinical Social Work #4429

In a 2013 published study, 93% of counselors were receiving inadequate supervision, and 35% were receiving harmful supervision. Many organizations are challenged to provide supervision due to multiple facilities, supervisors performing both clinical and administrative duties, with some supervisors even carrying a partial client caseload. Yet, insuring clinician competency, guarding against liability issues, adhering to evidence-based practices, and retention of counseling staff all require consistent, competent, and conceptually sound supervision. With behavioral health programs experiencing staff shortages, supervision represents an investment returning multiple dividends.

Trauma Informed Organizations* #4430

There are a number of distinct characteristics of trauma-informed organizations. It is important that organizations intentionally assess and examine how these characteristics present themselves within different service settings within a community. You will learn about and understand the characteristics typically seen, while discussing and creating specific strategies to become a more trauma-informed organization. By becoming more trauma informed at the organizational level, you will develop tools to avoid re-traumatizing consumers starting at the front door.

Healing Racial Violence: The Power of Consciousness and Communication* #4431

Understanding the origins of racial conflict and trauma from a human services perspective, allies within our community will be able to assist in addressing privilege and oppression, address and acknowledge hate crime concerns, while promoting equal opportunity efforts that help communities, public agencies, businesses, and schools identify discrimination, bias, and unfair practices. This will open up a cross-cultural communication among peers and colleagues that will offer incident response methods and address the underlying, long-term effect on community relations.

Intergenerational Trauma: The Impact on Indigenous Communities* #4432

For generations, Indigenous and Tribal Nations have endured ongoing, intermittent trauma through colonialism, mass forced migration, war, and many other present day incidents. This intergenerational trauma has resulted in studies supporting the idea that long-term trauma affects families and communities across generations, negatively affecting mental and physical health. In this workshop, you will explore the impact of historical trauma on communities. You will also learn about strength-based approaches to helping communities face crisis and trauma. In this workshop you will learn trauma-informed, strengthen-based and theory-based approaches for working with communities impacted by various forms of trauma.

Mental Health in Disaster Settings* #4433
Providing mental health during a disaster is different from everyday practice. This workshop will look at those practice differences and what skill set is needed to be a mental health provider in this setting. There will be a review of the principles of psychological first aid, understanding the disaster environment, and promoting client resilience. This workshop will also prepare you for disaster in personal and professional settings.

Emotional Resilience in Social Work Practice #4422
Emotional Resilience is an often untapped resource in all people. Building capacity for emotional resilience and psychological flexibility is essential for effective social work practice, while also protecting you against the impact of secondary trauma. Resilience training will allow you to do good work at less physical and emotional cost to you. These core skills can easily and effectively transfer to your work and clientele in a wide variety of clinical and non-clinical settings. This trauma-informed, research-based course will introduce you to a resilience training model that incorporates basic principles of healthy human psychological functioning as well as other theories such as: Acceptance and Commitment Theory, Shame Resilience Theory, Mindfulness-based Stress Reduction, Mindful Self-compassion, and Oppression Theory. You will be able to recognize common strategies we use to discharge pain and shame, incorporate compassion practices, and implement strategies from various evidence-based resilience models.

Date: Thursday–Friday, July 25–26, 2019
Time: Registration 7:30 AM • Program 8:00 AM – 3:45 PM both days
CECHs: 12
CE faculty: Lisa Laughman, LMSW

Seeking CALM in Chaos: Empowering the Helper and Client #4434
This workshop is designed to be a day of self-discovery as well as an introduction to the evidence-based Internal Family Systems (IFS) Model created by Richard Schwartz. This model is intended to revitalize both internal healing as well as work with clients. IFS is based on the principle that we all have different sub-personalities or parts that have positive intent but when out of balance can create havoc. The “self” is our true and spiritual center. According to IFS, qualities of the “self” include compassion, curiosity, connection, calm, courage, clarity, caring, and creativity. As clinicians, the tool we bring to our work is our selves. In order to be an effective tool, it requires a willingness to look inward. You will learn and practice skills that support a non-pathologizing and empowering method in service of the helper as well as client. You will integrate principles and concrete strategies related to shame resilience, mindfulness, and self-compassion in support of inviting “self” to be the leader. Be prepared to participate in small and large group discussions, activities, and strategy building that will help you learn tools you can use in practice.

Date: Thursday, July 25, 2019

Involved in the Business of Death #4435

Talking about death often provokes discomfort, anxiety, and fear. This workshop will provide an opportunity to explore issues surrounding one’s own death, including the business of death, funerals and rituals, and end-of-life conversations with family and friends. Examining these components of death will enable social workers to increase their comfort level in conversations with clients, become better advocates, and understand how the grief trajectory may be influenced by events that do or do not happen at the time of death.

Date: Thursday, July 25, 2019

Sandtray: Getting Started (Play Therapy Technique) #4436

Sandtray World Play is a unique model and intervention that provides the client with the opportunity to make sense of their world through the use of sand, figurines, and play. It can be used with children/teens, adults, and in group processes. In this workshop, you will learn about the history and development of Sandtray as a therapeutic intervention. You will learn about the basic concepts of Sandtray Worldplay as well as the basic steps to implementing Sandtray Worldplay. The workshop will include a combination of history, theory, and experiential processing, including use of sand, figurines, and practice segments.

Mental Health in the Foster Home: Coaching Foster Parents in Suicide Prevention #606-19

Children in foster care are at a significantly higher risk of suicidal thoughts and action than the general population, but foster parents often have little to no training in basic youth mental health issues, prevention, or crisis planning. In this workshop, you will learn strategies for coaching foster parents on issues of mental health awareness and suicide prevention. You will develop an expanded awareness of the importance of risk factors and safety planning and be better able to coach foster parents on these topics.

Advanced Sandtray Interventions (Play Therapy Technique) #4438

Sandtray has been in practice since the 1940s but is becoming more and more researched as an evidence-informed model of therapy. This workshop will build on the morning workshop or your previous experience with Sandtray, moving into more advanced techniques utilizing an experiential journey in Sandtray/Sandtray World Play technique. You will have the opportunity to practice directive and non-directive techniques utilized in the Sandtray. You will have the opportunity to use Sandtrays and sand with imagery to build a Sandtray World and discuss adaptations that will enhance your current use of Sandtray.

Family Interventions and Therapy for Adolescent Substance Abuse #607-19

Unhealthy adolescent behaviors occur due to past experiences and often have roots in family systems or family dysfunction. This workshop will address different levels of parent and family interaction in different phases of an adolescent’s treatment. An emphasis will be placed on how to negotiate the disclosure of information between adolescent and parents, ideas to assess and identify parental personal issues that impact the adolescent, an overarching philosophy of adolescent substance abuse therapy, and ideas on how to present this to parents as well as techniques for parents and adolescents to engage in productive work once a philosophy and alliance have been built between therapist, adolescent, and parent.

Advanced Adolescent Substance Abuse Treatment #4440

Effective adolescent substance abuse treatment requires different and unique perspectives than adult substance abuse treatment. Adolescent treatment requires that the clinician or program understands what creates change with adolescents, the unique challenges and strengths of adolescents, philosophies of adolescent substance abuse treatment, and the best practice interventions that can be tailored to an adolescent client. These topics and more will be discussed throughout the course of this workshop.

Igniting Greatness: Building Resilience in Traumatized Families and the Nurtured Heart Approach* #4441

In the human service world and that of our community, we are continually faced with challenges that can lead to tremendous suffering. This workshop will focus on tools, skills, and models that support resiliency. Concrete strategies related to mindfulness, shame resilience, psychological flexibility, and self-compassion will be discussed. The framework of the Nurtured Heart Approach will also be discussed in depth. This is a model designed to develop the greatness in every child and family even in the most difficult circumstances. By combining both resiliency strategies and the Nurtured Heart Approach, you will learn techniques and strategies to create powerful experiences of success for families. This interactive workshop will include large/small group discussion and small group practice.

Ethics for Social Workers and Substance Use Disorder Providers in the 21st Century #4442

The conceptual foundation of ethics represents an inherent and essential framework for behavioral health, including clinical social work. While assuming all ethical standards and professional codes of ethics represent identical approaches to care, however, significant differences exist. In this workshop, emphasis will be given to examining personal values and ethical concepts, contrasting those personal beliefs to professional codes of ethics, and determining appropriate approaches to clientele. In addition, given the demands within behavioral health, boundary crossings as well as boundary violations receive prominent focus and attention. While some presentations in ethics exhibit a dry, boring, and sterile coverage of standards and professional codes, this workshop will actively engage participants, prioritizing current issues in the field through use of controversial topics and issues. Participants should come prepared for a thought-provoking, emotionally challenging, actively engaged day via a multi-media, multi-sensory format, teaching to all styles of learning. Case study material will be utilized, with video clips presented from various health care disciplines, and didactic material that addresses both the conceptual and practical levels.

Promoting Resiliency Through Trauma Informed Supervision* #4443

Providing support to those who have experienced trauma exposes helpers to traumatic stress. The supervisory relationship is an important tool that fosters resiliency, well-being, compassion, and ultimately positive outcomes for those served. This workshop will explore the supervisory relation-ship and specific strategies that supervisors and workers can use to promote resiliency. This workshop will be useful to staff as well as those in supervisory and leadership roles.

About the GLSI Faculty

Shana Bombrys, LCSW, CADC, RPT, is a clinician and certified alcohol drug counselor in private practice in East Lansing, MI. She helps children and adults with a variety of concerns with a focus on trauma. Bombrys has over 12 years of training in Sandtray-Worldplay. She has worked in a variety of settings utilizing play therapy with children in the foster care system and with refugee families through St. Vincent Catholic Charities. Bombrys is the current president of the Michigan Association of Play Therapy.

Annie Lange, BSN, LMSW, ACSW, has served as a clinical faculty member for the MSU School of Social Work. Lange has an active private practice with special interest in self-care, attachment, interpersonal neurobiology, and adoption issues. Lange has advanced trainer certification in the Nurtured Heart Approach. She readily admits that her greatest teachers have been her six children, five of whom are adopted.

Lisa Laughman, LMSW, has worked in the areas of foster care, substance abuse, employee assistance counseling, community development, workplace wellness, and stress reduction coaching. Her passions include teaching principles of healthy human functioning, including a focus on shame resilience theory (SRT), psychological flexibility, and acceptance commitment theory (ACT) within a social justice framework that includes looking at things from four levels—personal, interpersonal, institutional, and cultural. Laughman is a counselor for the MSU Employee Assistance Program and an emotional wellness consultant for the MSU Health4U Program. Laughman is also the owner of Wisdom Heart Life, a counseling and coaching practice that helps people live their life aligned with their deepest wisdom and their greatest sense of meaning and purpose.

Alytia Levendosky, PhD, earned her doctoral degree in clinical psychology at the University of Michigan in 1995. She has been a faculty member in the Department of Psychology at Michigan State University since August 1995. She co-directs a trauma assessment supervision team with Dr. Jason Moser for clinical psychology students interested in learning more about trauma assessment, run through the MSU Psychological Clinic. She is also an associate editor of the Journal of Traumatic Stress.

Don Lyons, MSW, is a citizen of the Anishinabek nation. An enrolled citizen of Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe in Northern Minnesota, he is Bear Clan as well as Haudenosaunee from Six Nations and Turtle Clan. He earned his BA and MSW degrees from Michigan State University and has over 15 years of international, domestic, state, and tribal experience related to wellness, prevention, treatment, program evaluation, and community development.

Tom Moore, LMSW, LLP, CAADC, CCS, founded Two Moons LLC in 2014, providing consultation, training, and supervision. A part-time instructor for Western Michigan University since 1986, he taught courses in experiential therapy. Moore holds master's degrees from Indiana University and Norwich University in education and psychology.

Cynthia Morgan, PhD, is currently in private practice. She has worked in a variety of other settings, including university and college counseling centers, managed care, and as an assistant professor in the MSU College of Medicine, Department of Psychiatry. Her area of clinical specialization is in grief and loss, with extensive post-graduate training. Dr. Morgan has participated in and co-presented Love, Loss, and Forgiveness workshops and currently serves as a regional guide for the Love, Loss, and Forgiveness Project.

Jason Moser, PhD, is an associate professor for MSU Department of Psychology with targeted clinical training in Cognitive Processing Therapy, Prolonged Exposure Therapy, and Cognitive Behavioral Therapy, with special focuses on PTSD and Social Phobia. In addition, he co-directs a trauma assessment supervision team with Dr. Alytia Levendosky for clinical psychology students interested in learning more about trauma assessment.

Anthony Muller, MA, LPC, CAADC, CCS, has worked in the mental health and substance abuse field for 20 years. He is an experienced trainer with local, statewide, national, and international training experience. He currently works for Wedgewood Christian Services and is the director of clinical and business development.

Jody Nelson, LMSW, graduated from MSU and has worked as a home-based therapist for ten years and a children's emergency services therapist for seven. He is currently a prevention therapist in Families Forward at the Community Mental Health Authority of Clinton Eaton & Ingham Counties.

Shani Saxon, LMSW, is the owner of Turning Corners Consulting, where she provides holistic mental health counseling. She also offers consulting services to community agencies working through social justice and racial healing issues, including the My Brothers’ Keeper (MBK) initiative and their commitment to dissolve unfair injustices and racial inequity.

Dr. Howard Schubiner is an internist and directs the Mind Body Medicine Center at Providence Hospital–Ascension Health in Southfield, MI. He has authored more than 100 scientific publications. He is the author of Unlearn Your Pain and Unlearn Your Anxiety and Depression, and the co-author of Hidden from View.

Susan Sefansky, LMSW, ACSW, has been a clinical social worker for 40+ years, including 30+ years of experience working within the University of Michigan Health System. Her areas of expertise are death and dying, critical care, and disasters. Susan has been an American Red Cross mental health volunteer for 15+ years and has taught Psychological First Aid and Disaster Mental Health for many years. She also is a member of MiMort, the mortuary response team.

Marya Sosulski, PhD, MSW, teaches social welfare policy and community organizing to undergraduate, MSW, and doctoral students at Michigan State University. Her research focuses on the intersections of race, class, and gender within systems and institutions such as labor, welfare, and higher education, as well as how civic engagement, economic development, and social change processes impact the growth of neighborhoods and communities.

Bonnie Wheeler, MA, is specially trained in grief and loss, multicultural counseling, and treating sexual abuse survivors. She holds an Advanced Bereavement Facilitator Certificate from the American Academy of Bereavement. Wheeler has presented frequently on expressive techniques used in grief and loss treatment and co-presented Love, Loss, and Forgiveness with Dr. Cynthia Morgan previously.

Cheryl Williams-Hecksel, LMSW, is on the faculty of the MSU School of Social Work. She brought to MSU more than 20 years of clinical and administrative experience in public and private child welfare and mental health agencies. She is the coordinator of the School’s Evidence Based Trauma Treatment Certificate. She is involved in MSU’s work with the National Child Welfare Workforce Institute.
Who should attend your continuing education workshops? Each course listing includes a skill level box, indicating if a course is intended for a beginning, intermediate, or advanced level Master of Social Work practitioner unless otherwise indicated. In addition, Macro, Clinical, or both will be listed to identify the focus of the primary content. Professionals practicing in human service and healthcare fields will benefit from attending programs described in this catalog. Courses have been designed for the licensed master’s-level social worker except where noted. All courses are open to LLBSWs, LBWS, LLMSWs, and LMSWs practicing in both clinical and macro roles. The general public is invited to attend any of the programs listed in this catalog.

Will I earn Social Work Continuing Education Credit if I attend a program described in this catalog? Michigan State University School of Social Work, provider #1136, is approved as a provider for social work continuing education by the Association of Social Work Boards (ASWB) www.aswb.org through the Approved Continuing Education (ACE) Program. Michigan State University School of Social Work maintains responsibility for the program. ASWB Approval Period: 6/14/2016 – 6/14/2019. Social workers should contact their regulatory board to determine course approval for continuing education credits. We are also an approved MISCEC Provider (provider #0001) through August 2019.

What are course completion requirements? • Face-to-face or live video/audio webinars or conferences: To receive continuing education contact hours (CECHs) for programs listed in this catalog, you must arrive by the advertised starting time, and you stay until the end of the program. You must be present for the entire course or conference session and complete an evaluation. Partial credit is not allowed. For webinars, you additionally need to pass a post-test with 75% accuracy to receive credit. If you object to the program provider’s decision regarding the award of CECHs, you are entitled to file a grievance form provided by program staff upon request within two weeks of the program end date.

• Online On-Demand Continuing Education Credit: To receive credit for an online continuing education course, you must watch the video in its entirety and complete the attendance record, evaluation, and pass a post-test with 75% accuracy. If you do not pass, you will be able to retake one additional time. Upon passing the post-test, your certificate will generate at the end of your survey. You MUST print/save your certificate immediately. No paper certificates will be mailed. You have access to material for the time period the class is scheduled. We are unable to offer additional CECHs for extra time you spend with the course material. These courses are ONLINE CECHs; check with your state’s social work regulatory body to see how these may count toward required CECHs.

• School Social Work Competency Courses: Details can be found online: socialwork.msu.edu/ceu/catalog.php The course will include readings, discussion board postings, and quizzes which must be passed by 80% overall. Once we receive your passing score and you complete a survey that will be emailed to you, you will be mailed a letter of completion within 30 days of passing the course. These courses are ONLINE CECHs; check with your state’s social work regulatory body to see how these may count toward required CECHs.

How and when do I pay? All of our in-person programs require pre-registration and payment prior to the course. You may pay by credit card at the time of your registration with our online registration system. You may fax or mail credit card information with your registration, or send a check or money order with your registration by mail. We are unable to accept cash. Payment must be received in registration in order to reserve a space. Some programs are offered free of charge; if this is indicated, registrations will be accepted on a first-come first-serve basis. Email or call to request a receipt. Field instructor, field liaisons, and MSU School of Social Work faculty receive discount category D (see page 1 of the Registration Form) except for some special programs. Retirees are defined as individuals who are no longer employed.

If I need to cancel, can I get a refund? If you cancel by faxing or mailing in a refund request form (available at socialwork.msu.edu/ce under “Forms” or contact swkce@msu.edu to obtain) at least one week prior to the course start date, you will receive a refund less a 20% administrative fee. Cancellations and requests for refunds received after this time are not eligible for a refund. In the event the MSU School of Social Work cancels an event, you will receive a FULL refund.

Do you send a confirmation for my registration? If you provide an email address, you will receive a confirmation email one week prior to the event for which you have registered, delivered to the email address provided. We cannot guarantee you are registered for a program unless you receive an email confirmation from swkce@msu.edu or you contact us to verify confirmation. Email swkce@msu.edu or call (517) 353-3060.

How do I request an accommodation? Michigan State University is committed to providing equal opportunity for participation in all programs, services, and activities. Accommodations for persons with disabilities may be requested by writing the request on page 1 of the Registration Form, or including the request when registering online, or by contacting us at swkce@msu.edu; include “Accommodations request” in the subject line, or call (517) 353-3060 at least two weeks prior to the program start date. Requests received after this date will be honored whenever possible.

When will certificates be issued? Certificates of attendance will be awarded to individuals upon request provided the individual’s account is paid in full and all required continuing education documentation is completed. In most cases for face-to-face programs this will be at the completion of training or within 30 days of the training.

Can I request a duplicate certificate? Yes. On our website, under “Forms” you will find a “Duplicate Certificate Request.” There is a $10 charge for replacement of each duplicate certificate, and they will be marked as such.

What does Substance Usage Specify mean? Courses identified in this way will be accepted by MCBAP (Michigan Certification Board for Addiction Professionals) as meeting criteria for substance use credits.

What should I wear? Dress comfortably and in layers as each location has varied temperatures.

In the event of inclement weather? It is unlikely MSU cancels an event due to weather. Call (517) 353-3060: the outgoing message will provide an announcement if an event is cancelled. An email will also be sent to the email address provided.

NOTE: All programs are scheduled on Eastern Standard Time and may be photographed and/or audio/videotaped. If you do not wish to be photographed or recorded during a face-to-face event, contact us at (517) 353-3060.
